KATEPWE.

From our own correspondent.
—No meeting was held here to protest against the strong language of THE PROGRESS.

—But Mr. R. Ford has been to Regina on business since that time.

—And Mr. and Mrs. Powell have left for Ontario to visit their daughter, who is very ill.

—And quite a number of dogs are dying off. The cause is supposed to be something stronger than strong language, viz., a substance placed at many points along the Valley to destroy wolves and foxes.

—The people are asking to have the post office changed since Mr. Johnston's removal, also, petitioning for a J. P. and Notary Public.

—Mr. Geo. Bulstade has sold his farming outfit and engaged with Mr. Wright for a year to go to Manitoba. All acquainted with Geo. will hear of his departure with deep regret. He will be much missed here, especially in the church of which he was a regular and energetic member.

—Quite a serious accident happened at the public school last week, whereby Josephine Grant, about twelve years old, had her ankle dislocated while coasting on the hillside.

BALGONIE.

—A very sad accident occurred in the vicinity of Balgonie on Wednesday of last week. Mrs. Wilson, a highly esteemed lady, aged 65 years, accidentally had her leg broken so seriously that it is expected dead.

BATTLEFORD.

Saskatchewan Herald.

—Fresh eggs command 75c, a dozen.

—Insp. Chalmers and Dr. Aylen returned from Onion Lake last week.

—The lowest tenders for the Mounted Police ice were those of C. A. Smith and E. Bourassa, which were $1 15 a ton.

—Large quantities of ice are being put up for private parties about town. The price paid averages about $1.50 a ton, packed in the ice-houses.

—The contract for the posts and rails advertised for by the Principal of the Industrial School has been awarded to Mr. Chas. A. Smith at an average of $2.75 a hundred.

EDMONTON.

Edmonton Bulletin.
—It is expected that the H. B. Co. will forward about 150 tons of freight from Calgary to the Athabasca Landing before spring.

—On Wednesday evening, Jan. 22, Rev. Canon Newton delivered a lecture on Ancient India, its literature and religion, at Fort Saskatchewan to a very appreciative audience.

—Thos. Anderson gave his three hives of bees an airing on Wednesday, Jan. 23rd. They flew about freely. An examination of the hives showed very few dead bees, and an abundant supply of honey and very little fruit in the hives, especially in two that were double boarded. There is every prospect of the bees coming through this winter safely.

—Supt. Grosbeck has arranged to distributed rations to destitute families of half-breeds at St. Albert this winter. The conditions are that all who are able to work must work or neither themselves or their families will receive rations. "The number of those in want is much smaller than last year and is confined entirely to such as were formerly included in the Indian treaty, and are chiefly widows, infirm people and children."

An Embarrassing Mistake.

Shall carry my overcoat on my arm.

Yes, quite a cold breeze. I'm glad I brought my overcoat along.

Jupiter!—Judy.

A CURE FOR DEAFNESS.

There have been many remarkable cures of deafness made by the use of Hazard's Yellow Oil, the great household remedy for pain, inflammation and soreness. Yellow Oil cures Rheumatism, Sore Throat and Croup, and is useful internally and externally for all pains and injuries.

At Omaha on Monday high wind blew down a portion of a wall on Furum street, killing five persons and severely injuring several others.

We have just received the most handsome Canadian Seed Catalogue we have yet seen; it is issued by The Steele Bros. Co. (Ltd.) Toronto, and contains description and prices of everything in seeds, roses, climbing vines, flowering bulbs and grapes; a book of 112 pages, profusely illustrated, has also a chromo-lithograph plate showing four varieties of their "New Art Collection of Flower Seeds." New and rare novelties in flower, vegetable and field seeds occupy a large portion of the work. This firm occupy the Monmouth Street House, corner Front and Jarvis streets, Toronto, exporters to which are a ways made welcome, and have an immense establishment, employing 100 hands, and doing business from the Atlantic to the Pacific. We bespeak for this house the patronage of all who are desirous of buying first-class seeds and encouraging Canadian enterprise. Send your address for a catalogue, they are mailed free.

BROKEN DOWN.

"After suffering with dyspepsia, kidney disease, loss of appetite and pain in the head and discouraged, I used B. B. B., took two bottles and am happy to say I feel as well as ever."—Miss. Rufus E. Merry, New Albany, N.Y.

Valentine in great variety at Qu'Appelle Medical Hall.

IN THE SENATE.

The address in the Senate in reply to the speech from the throne was adopted by the Senate after three hours' debate this afternoon. Senator Reid of British Columbia was introduced by Denham and Mantel, and made an eloquent speech in moving the adoption of the address. He dealt at great length on the possibilities of the extension of Canadian trade particularly in the east, and regretted the failure of the fishery treaty. In conclusion he expressed a hope of a favorable settlement of the difficulties between the two countries.

Perley of Assiniboia, seconded the reply. His effort was well received. When His Excellency visits the far west he will hear as decided expressions of friendship and loyalty as he heard in older parts of Canada. Whilst there is cause for regret that the fishery treaty was not adopted, Canada occupied the proud position that she was no more affected by interference than were the parties who refused to enforce it. The threat of non-intercourse, it was a matter of satisfaction, had no effect in alienating the loyalty of Canadians to the mother country, but rather had the effect of making us feel our freedom and independence and our old capacity, to use an old saying, to paddle our own canoe without them. He expressed hopes of an early adjustment of the entire question. Fortunately the existence of the C. P. R. gives assurance that Canada can never suffer by the adoption of a policy of non-intercourse. Perley referred at length to the bounteous harvest and great prosperity prevailing through the Northwest. Speaking of the mounted police he observed that the body in point of intelligence was equal to any military force in the world. Life and property are as safe to-day there as in any part of Canada. Horse stealing is almost unknown and law and order have been enforced in all parts of the country. This is largely due to enable management and vigilance of the police. The proposed expenditure on the force is a very commendable one.

Macdowell, M. P. has applied to Hon. Mr. Dewdney for an issue of scrip to halfbreeds at Green Lake, north of Prince Albert.

It is understood the forthcoming measure respecting the N. W. Mounted police will make provision for granting pensions to members of the force on account of meritorious service.

R. C. Macdonald and wife, of Battleford are at Ottawa. He says the Indians on the various reservations in that district propose to purchase labor saving machinery for next season.

A VALUABLE DISCOVERY.

F. P. Tamer, of Neeling, Ontario, says he has not only found B. B. B. a sure cure for Dyspepsia, but he also found it to be the best medicine for regulating and improving the system that he has ever taken. B. B. B. is the great system regulator.

DARWIN'S THEORY.

Darwin's theory of the "survival of the fittest" is simply that the weakly die, while the robust and hardy thrive and live. How true this is of seed growth, and how necessary to sow only that which is suited by nature to live and develop.

D. M. Ferry & Co., the great Seed Growers and Seed Dealers of Detroit, Michigan, supply only the best and purest, raising their own seeds by the most improved methods and with the greatest care, bringing to their business the invaluable aid of more than thirty years' experience. Their Seed Annual for 1889 is a real help to the gardener, and should be in the hands of all who desire to purchase and true seeds. Send your name to the firm's address at Detroit, Michigan, and they will forward you a copy.

THE ARIZONA KICKER.

A Few Transient Editorials From That Enterprising Sheet.

We take the following from the last issue of The Arizona Kicker:

A DISAPPOINTED MAN.—A tough from New Mexico, who called himself "The Terror of Broadway River," struck our town the other day with a wild yell and started in to foreclose on a mortgage. The boys were mostly asleep or out along the river banks, but it wasn't over seven minutes after the Terror uttered his first whoop that he lay a wilted daisy on the street. The coroner counted eighteen bullet holes in his body, and nobody observed that there was no call for an inquest.

The age of the Terror has passed. There was a time when it was considered too funny for a tough to capture a town and pop over a dozen leading citizens, and his picture was certain to appear in some illustrated paper as a hero, but that time has gone by. Terrors have become too cheap, and no one wants to buy.

The coroner has our thanks for his kindness towards us in this particular case. We are trying to grow some catnip and asparagus in our back yard, and as the body of the Terror as a fertilizer. We should like three or four more, and trust that our friends will be on the lookout to supply us.

NOT OUR FAULT.—We want it distinctly understood that we had nothing whatever to do with the unfortunate incident that occurred on Jackson Hill last Tuesday evening. Mrs. Gen. Featherstone called cards for a high coffee, and most of the elite of the town had gathered at her two-story abode, when the sheriff swooped down and took away seven prisoners, mostly charged with horse stealing.

We neither gave them away nor knew that such a raid was intended, but this proves anew the folly of such gatherings. Society wants to show off, but what's the use in collecting a crowd for the benefit of the sheriff?

BECOMING SERIOUS.—Those young men who make a practice of firing into the Kicker office on their way up and down at night may be extracting a great deal of fun out of it, but we are not. As long as their high no particular damage was done except to the steeple, but as several bullets have whizzed too close to our couch for comfort. We have been patient and forbearing, not wanting to deprive the boys of any legitimate amusement, but this firing must be stopped or we shall take vigorous measures against the shooters.

IT'S US WHO.—We have several times announced that we were "off" and that our "off" was in regard to fighting, and that citizens who tackled us must take their chances. Last Friday the old broken backed hymn who sells the expedition sheet saw his get a letter in a morning envelope, the postoffice, and he concluded it would be an "off" day with us and pitched in to get satisfaction. The morning envelope inclosed a letter from the bank at Tucson, giving notice that a draft sent for collection had been, much to our astonishment, collected.

The old reptile also referred to therefore hit in dead wrong, and he had no sooner put up his claws than we went for him and had him holing for mercy made of five minutes. Hoays in his issue of yesterday that he thought we were trying to draw a gun on him, but that is too thin for us. He really thought that we had hit him with a ten of granite.—Detroit Free Press.

Things That Are Told.

A. B. Allen, the noted traveler, is quoted as having said that "yellow color showed a good strain" in pigs.

Idle horses in winter should be made the class pulled off, and working horses should have their claws regularly kept to keep them in natural shape, advises A. W. Cheever.

Shallow plowing and inefficient cultivation is claimed by a writer in Rural Home to be the great cause of run down lands.

T. D. Terry says of the Beauty of Helicon peacock: "Most of the feathers grown for several years have been of the Beauty of Helicon variety. This year we had no others except a few of the Beauty of Helicon variety. The Beauty of Helicon variety is the most beautiful of all the peacocks, and it is the only one that is not a hybrid."—New York Mail and Express.

A dryness which has been felt in the making of the paper could be made, without reference to any other consideration, to be a fact that it has paid for a year's subscription.

PERSONAL GOSSIP.

Lawrence Barrett was born in Paterson, N. J., fifty years ago last April.

Emperor William has forbidden horse racing in Prussia on Sunday and holy days.

It is said that Browning wrote "Lady Geraldine's Courtship" in two consecutive hours.

Although nearly 60 years of age, Alphonse Daudet does not look it by at least ten years.

The only jubilee gift which Emperor Francis Joseph accepted was a mosaic image of the Virgin and the pope.

In spite of tempting offers Lord Tennyson refuses to write his memoirs. Who says Tennyson is not a great man?

Mr. Frodo's look on Australia has given birth to a new word in the assembly house at Melbourne. It is "Frodoity."

Judge Charles McCarthy, of Lyons, Conn., is now the oldest living graduate of Yale. He was graduated in the class of 1817.

Mr. Gladstone bought over fifty copies of Mrs. Burnett's story, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," for presents to his juvenile friends.

Mr. Williamson, who has given $15,000,000 to build a mechanical railway, is now planning to carry the same undertaking for fifteen years.

Gladstone usually has three books in reading at the same time and changes from one to the other when his mind has reached the limit of its capacity.

Count von Moltke, while making purchases for Christmas, was surrounded by a wild and enthusiastic mob of friends and admirers in Berlin and cheerfully obliged to be obliged to retreat into a cab.

George W. Williams, the negro historian, has recently returned from Europe laden with the fruits of a long search through the libraries of the Old World for matter pertaining to Toussaint L'Ouverture.

A fine marble bust of David Davis, made from a death mask, is to be presented to the state of Illinois by Messrs. Leonard Swett, Robert T. Lincoln and others. It will be placed in the capitol at Springfield.

Ex-President Wood, of Yale, although nearly four score and ten years of age, is still a member of the New Haven postoffice daily, never varying a minute in the time of his going and passing the city hall just as the clock strikes 10.

Lord Tennyson's life work is practically finished. At the age of 70 he is too feeble to think of undertaking any other work than a slight revision of his noble poems. Mr. Browning, who is only three years younger, is as robust as a man of 55.

Incidentally Susan B. is a remarkably tall looking man. He is tall and well proportioned, though somewhat inclined to be fat. He wears a long black beard, and the vacant sleeve of his left arm is always pinned tightly to his left shoulder.

Gen. Boulanger's one child in life is said to be his mother. She was with him in 1879 during the ten months in which he was in danger from a wound received at Solferino, and which has never entirely healed. He speaks of his mother and even weeps with her, and if away, always sends her a telegram.

William Henri Waddington, French ambassador in England, was born in Paris, of English parents, and is just 62 years of age. He was educated at Rugby and Cambridge, England, where he was a scholar of Trinity college, and took a very high degree. He pulled with the Cambridge crew that beat Oxford in 1876. He has occupied the position of French ambassador at the Court of St. James since 1885, and is a true and patriotic citizen of his adopted country, France.

ORIGIN OF SLANG TERMS.

"Pow-wow" comes from the Indians.

To "pig at what" means to renege, that is Saxon for deny.

The word boss comes from the low Dutch, and means master.

Chick comes from the napping or stealing of a bird, grey for child.

Caboose, a prison, pincorne, a pirate; palaver, to talk, are all Spanish.

"A ram chap" is simply a gypsy lad, it has no relation to the product of the still.

"Dude," meaning a dandy, has no appreciable derivation. Like Topsy, it grewed.

Dad is a brother, and "cousin" for nose, comes from the spouting fountain, the conch of the Romans.

Demijohn comes from the Arabic damaghah, itself taken from the Persian glass making town of Demaghah.

The common slang word "mashed" is from a kind of grey wool, "mash," which means "tumbled by the wheels."

Why should a man be called a spoon? Why spoony when he is making love? Simply because he is a "holed," which also means spoon.

The slang word "cannp" was at first a good word, being rubbing up of old hats and shoes. Now, from being a cobbler's word, it has become a classic, and we talk of rumpumping the language.

A tinler's dam has nothing to do with swearing. It is merely the dam or stoppage, made of dirt and water, with which the tinler stops the pipe he is mending until the tin or the power is being used.

Many people sought lately for the familiar "Exile from Solferino," and could not find it. The true phrase is "Approbation from Sir Butler's Solferino," and is a phrase, having been introduced by a "Coke for the Heartache," the well known old play.

Gen. Butler is to be accredited with the discovery that "contraband of war" applied to a runaway negro. Therefore he gave a new word to the language. The robbery of the contraband produced the word, and a contraband was a synonym for a colored man at Washington to this day.

The divided mind is a novelty and derives its principal merit from the fact that it is neither very useful nor very dangerous, resembling two ducks, paddling at the edge to show a contradiction line, through which the hands turn, connected with a large tow and cable, which engrains the water.

Why Toast sends a Weak Digestion. Toast sends the weak point and converts the weak into a healthy state, and is incapable of fermentation.

Dr. Frost will not send the stomach or produce any discomfort, and is therefore more agreeable to a weak digestion than any other food.

The Conqueror Conquered.

In southern archipelagoes he'd fought the bloody cannibals.

He'd skinned and tanned the crocodile and found him very tangible.

Not a word of fear he'd uttered, not a word and not a flinch.

When he killed the Bengal tiger, and he found him very killable.

He claimed his strength was very great, for bears and lions were suitable.

He used to beat the grizzly bear, and found him very beatable.

He claimed in killing monstrous snakes, that he was very capable.

No box constructor could escape, for he was unescapable.

In fighting hippopotami, he said he was invincible.

No jaguar could make him wince, because he wasn't winceable.

He made the running elephant no longer reeling.

And pulverized the roaring bull, and found him quite suitable.

Just then his wife came in and said, "I'd think if you'd come and 'tend the baby, and you'd find him very beatable."

The way she took him by the ear will make this poem readable.

She pulled him out and led him home, and found him very killable.

—S. W. Frost in Yankee Blade.

Improving a Proverb.

"I've advanced considerably, my dear," Mr. Dusenberry said, as he rubbed his chin in a contemplative way. "They are check full of significance. They are laconic and logical. Now, for instance, there is the saying, 'Strangers show which way the wind blows.' What could more tersely."

"Yes," interrupted Mrs. Dusenberry with a twinkle in her starboard eye. "If you'd off the ashes every morning, instead of kicking me off them, you'd know more about the direction of the wind than all the straw in creation would show you."—Detroit Free Press.

It Was the House.

A girl about 5 years of age was wandering around on Croghan street the other day when a policeman stopped her and asked:

"Where are you going, sister?"

"Going home."

"Where is your home?"

"I can't find it."

"Can't you? Then I'm afraid you are lost."

"Oh, no, I ain't," she promptly replied. "I'm right here, but home is lost. I wish you'd be good and find it for me."—Detroit Free Press.

A Sure Sign of Wealth.

"Bismarck is making money fast," said Dr. Bromide to Dr. Blank.

"How so?" asked Dr. Blank. "What makes you think so?"

"I don't think so," said Dr. Bromide. "I know so. I paid Bismarck a dozen professional visits a month ago, and yesterday I sent him my bill. Today I get a check."—Somerville Journal.

A Joke in a Dead Language.

Bobby proud of his progress in Latin—Pop, what's the Latin for people?

Father—I don't know.

Bobby foolishly—Pop.

Father direct—What do you mean, you young scamp! Lie to Dr. By the Piper, I'd love half a notion to baptize you.—Binghamton Republican.

An Amazing Adventure With a Tiger.

I was in charge of a party making a survey for a railroad line between Nagpur and Hyderabad, India (said Major White), and as there was no hurry about the work our party was to be a hunting party. We numbered about 25 people, ten of whom were white men. Owing to the difficulties of the country we had no saddle horses, but some six or eight port animals, and each native also had a pack to bear. The difficulties in the way of building a line made the country a sportsman's paradise. Twenty years ago Nagpur was more wild and savage than the area in that district than elsewhere south of Lucknow, but the march of civilization has caused it to drive the big wild game away by this time.

As we were traveling along the north branch of the Godavari River—sometimes upon its bank and a couple of miles from the water, sometimes traveling five or six miles a day, and again halting for a couple of days to fish or hunt—when a most singular incident befell me individually. I had 1 ft. camp at an early hour in the morning to fish. While I carried my rifle with me, I had no intention of going out of my camp to find game.

On the previous afternoon I had observed what seemed to be a capital fishing spot in a bend of the river, and it was to this place I intended as I had seen some of the native sportsmen were sitting and saw me set out, but I did not want their services. It was pretty thick jungle before the camp and the bend, but at the bend there was a heavy forest growth and a ledge of rocks for a background. As I took a look around before sitting down on the bank to my sport I remarked that it was a good spot for wild beasts, but as there was nothing moving I went right to work with my fishing tackle. Catching a trout for bait, I sat in the bend, and it wasn't five minutes before I had a good catch of fish. I had thought of tiger, snake, and hyenas were driven out of my mind.

I had landed half a dozen good-sized fish, and was just then playing a larger one when a slight noise in the jungle was nothing moving I went right to work with my fishing tackle. Catching a trout for bait, I sat in the bend, and it wasn't five minutes before I had a good catch of fish. I had thought of tiger, snake, and hyenas were driven out of my mind.

I had landed half a dozen good-sized fish, and was just then playing a larger one when a slight noise in the jungle was nothing moving I went right to work with my fishing tackle. Catching a trout for bait, I sat in the bend, and it wasn't five minutes before I had a good catch of fish. I had thought of tiger, snake, and hyenas were driven out of my mind.

beat dropped his tail, uttered a long drawn wailing cry, and a sort of farewell glance at me, he bolted for the forest and disappeared. I had looked him over pretty well, and had noticed, among other things, that he had a broken claw on the right paw.

We did not break camp that day. Just before sunset, as we sat on a grassy bank, our party was taken to a tiger in a cage the servants had killed one and attempted to make off. We rallied to prevent, and the head knocked two other men over before he was despatched. When we came to examine the body I had not the slightest difficulty in identifying it as that of my playmate of the morning.

The Popular Science News asserts that the average length of life is constantly increasing, and that in the year yet come when persons a hundred years old will exist no more than one of eighty years at the present time.

Lower elements are a valuable fertilizing on any soil, and so to render it in pet, and also works saving for this purpose alone, while it rotted with manure they are considerably more valuable, and increasing up the heap in considerable piles should be taken to gather up and mix them with the manure.

Corn is being raised all the waterpower lifted from the ocean by the submarine and watered by the ephyrans over the land. It is a most interesting and profitable business. In a recent paper to the Royal Society of Edinburgh, Mr. John Murray sought to give the world's rainfall in figures. The area of the world is 147,000,000 square miles, equal to 11,850,000 square miles, receive 22.5 cubic miles of rain yearly. The total area draining directly to the ocean coast is 21,100 square miles, of which 28,257,791 square miles have more than ten inches of annual rainfall, and discharges into the sea 650 cubic miles of water each year. This is six times more than the amount of water of solids are carried to the ocean annually.

It is not so simple an operation to draw a piece of tool steel to a point as appears at first sight. If the end of the bar of steel is concave in the slightest degree it cannot be pointed, so in hammering it the surface steel is made to overturn the centre and cause the extreme end to be concave in a greater degree, then when it was started, and so long as the concave exists the steel cannot take a fine point, before commencing to draw to a point, the extreme end of the piece of steel should be ground or filed to a round end, and then struck with a hammer, but not a sharp. When this is done a point as fine as a needle may be drawn out. Care should be taken not to overheat the steel or it will crumble to pieces. It not be heated above a cherry red.

A "third silver alloy" is much employed in the manufacture of arms for the manufacture of silverware. It consists of one third of silver and two thirds of aluminum, and is worked to great advantage by reason of its low price and its great strength. It is more easily pressed and engraved than silver or other alloys. An alloy of 100 parts of aluminum and five parts of silver differs only little from pure aluminum, and is much more easily worked than silver. An alloy consisting of 10 parts of aluminum and five parts of silver possesses a very remarkable degree of elasticity, and has, therefore, been recommended for the manufacture of balance springs for watches. An alloy of equal parts of aluminum and silver varies in hardness.

The phenomenon of twilight is due partly to refraction and partly to reflection, but chiefly to the latter. After sunset the sun still continues to shine on the clouds in upper strata of the air, just as it may be shining on the summits of lofty mountains long after it has disappeared from the view of the dwellers on the plains. The air and clouds thus illuminated reflect back part of the light to the surface beneath, and in this way produce what we call twilight. At twilight the clouds are so finely illuminated as to be able to reflect an amount of light but little inferior to that of direct light of the sun. As the sun sinks lower, less and less of the visible atmosphere receives its light, and so less and less is reflected, until a final reflection ceases and night ensues.

HURRAH FOR MR. ALLEY.

Many of our readers will remember that Mr. W. B. Alley, editor and proprietor of the Colchester Sun, Truro, N. S., was one of the party of press representatives who visited the agricultural shows of Assinibou in 1887.
They have just been holding their civic elections in Truro and the Temperance question has been the chief subject of discussion in connection with the elections. The interest in the contest had become so warm that Mr. Alley found it necessary to write a lengthy letter over his own signature explaining his position. The following extract bears strong testimony to the benefit of our Territorial Prohibitory law before the issue of the permits to sell four per cent. beer.
Mr. Alley in replying to a correspondent's question says:

"It is as follows:—When did the Editor of THE COLCHESTER SUN become such an out and out Temperance man? To which the writer—as no one knows better than he—honestly, fairly and unequivocally, yet we trust, not boastfully replied—that he always was a prohibitionist as far as the whole state was concerned, but not sectionally; that a trip through portions of the North West in Sept., 1887, convinced him that sectional restrictive laws are advisable; that during the same trip, from being a very moderate drinker, he became a tee-totaller, pathologically so, the same
when he joined the Jubilee Temperance Society in Truro in Jan., 1888,
that while debating in his own mind
the question, if restrictive social and laws are advisable in the North West,
why not elsewhere? an incident occur-
ed which compelled him to invoke
the aid of the law in the suppression of a rum shanty started right at his own door, and its operation was so quick and efficient that the conviction was forced on him that a well-enforced law, even if sectional, is the right thing."

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Hon. E. Dewdney, M. P., Minister of the Interior, has our thanks for Parliamentary papers.

Hon. E. Dewdney, M. P. for East Assinibou, was introduced into the House of Commons by Rt. Hon. Sir
John A. Macdonald and Hon. G. E.
Parker.

They are having a rather severe winter down in Ontario this season.
On Sunday night last the thermometer registered 25° below zero at Kingston, and 30° below zero at Montreal. That is lower than it has been at Qu'Appelle this winter so far.

The carnival number of the Montreal Witness is a handsome production of lithograph and letterpress.
Those not able to attend the carnival
at Montreal should procure a copy
from the Witness office and from it obtain vivid ideas of the scenes enacted during the great frost king holiday week.

"It would be rather awkward," says
the Montreal Star, "if Canada, through a desire to welcome immigrants to the great farming lands of the Northwest territories, should become the home of the Mormons. For years the United States authorities have been endeavoring to compel the Mormons of Utah
to obey the law, but with only indifferent success. The Mormons have at last realized that they cannot continue to reside in United States territory and practice polygamy. They must be content with one wife each.
But why should they seek to come to Canada? It has been said by them that they would have as much right to practice polygamy under the British flag in Canada as have the millions of British subjects who practice it in India. They overlook the fact that laws affecting marriage in Canada are made by the Canadian Parliament and that it is unlawful in this country for any man to have two wives at the same time. Late advices intimate that the Mormons have a plan by which they expect to evade the law. There should be no room for misapprehension on the subject. Polygamy has been a cancer in the United States for a great many years, and statesmen of both parties have spent their best efforts in endeavoring by legal process to root it out. It will be a bad business if it is permitted to be transplanted from Salt Lake City to Lee's Creek, Alberta. To the practice of Mormonism as a religion, without polygamy, objection can not well be taken in a country where freedom of conscience prevails; to the practice of polygamy no tolerance can be shown,
and the Government would do well to see that these Mormon immigrants are not coming into the country under false pretences."

W. A. Webster, Dominion agent
at Devil's Lake, Dakota, in a report to the Minister of Agriculture regarding the condition of affairs in that portion of Dakota, gives a harrowing account of the sufferings endured by settlers owing to failure of crops in various sections of the state.
Destitution in many sections of the state is widespread, and many farmers have of late been hearing down
heavily on the saloon interests, and it is thought the shooting is an act of revenge. The wounded man is in a critical condition.

A de-patch from Darlington, U. S.
says G. G. Mandt, editor of the Sun,
a newspaper at Mount Horb, Dane county, was called to his door and shot through the lungs. Mr. Mandt has of late been hearing down quite heavily on the saloon interests, and it
is thought the shooting is an act of revenge. The wounded man is in a critical condition.

We hear there is great excitement in Montreal over the publication of the Carnival number of the Montreal Star, one firm alone offering to buy and pay each for one hundred thousand copies. The Carnival Star this year is said to be of surpassing grandeur. The public were prepared for something good, but did not dream of such a galaxy of beautiful and thrilling things. The Star number is retained at thirty-five cents. If people don't know how it can be procured for the money they must find out for themselves. We can't solve it.

A deputation from Nipissing waited on the Mowat Government and asked money to aid an inter-provincial bridge at Mattawa, declaring the Quebec Government would give the same amount as Ontario.

At the finish of the 27-hour walk at Bangor, Me., Herty was declared winner with 113 miles to his credit. Hazleman made 106, Hart 104, Taylor 101, Connor 90, Sullivan 85, Simmons 65, Judge 61. Herty got $125.

Detectives are busy down at Point Des Monts investigating the recent outrage at a priest's house here, and will hunt down the two men who committed the outrage. Miss Lemay, the victim of the two miscreants, is said to be in a precarious state.

Macdowall, M. P., has received assurances from J. H. Pope, Minister of Railways, that the Regina & Long Lake railway will be extended as far as the South Saskatchewan next summer. A definite announcement will be made next week when preliminaries will be arranged.

Hon. E. Dewdney, has taken the seat in the House formerly occupied by Hon. Thomas White. He is described as one of the hardest worked members of the Government, being entrusted with two departments. He has reduced the work to a system, and divides his time as carefully as possible between the two departments.

ON THE VERGE OF STARVATION.

"For three months I could not eat a full meal or do a day's work. I bought a bottle of Borden's Food Biscuits, began using it, and in three days my appetite returned, in a week I felt like a new man. It was wonderful what that one bottle did for me," writes Arthur Albion, of Hantsville, Muskoka, who suffered from dyspepsia.

No. 270.—Poetical Enigma.
I wave or mast, at fort and tower,
O'er royal homes, from island to tower,
I'm known and feared o'er land and wave,
The power of freedom to the slave!
Yet changed to stone I hold men,
Of necks your foot no mud to lie,
Sometimes my home is in the stream,
Where gay yellow blossoms gleam.
When dried, my withered form they take,
And into nuts and baskets make.
Four letters more, out of my head,
Loitering and slow becomes my tread.

No. 271.—Changing the Middle Letter.
A change of the middle letter
Makes a detective of the thief.
Makes a beverage high,
Makes a fish complete,
Makes a rumble reverence,
Makes a parent obscure.

No. 272.—An Easy One.
A thing which printers hate to see,
Although they all good letters be,
Add them an article quite small—
An interjection ends it all.

No. 273.—Round the World Riddles.
Name me the mountains that are nearly half metal.
Name me the river that reminds of a kettle;
What town do you think is nearest of all?
What city will be the most likely to fall?
Tell me what mountains are likely to slide,
Tell me the river most likely to hide,
Mention the lake that should take the advance.
Mention the city that owes most to chance;
Tell me what city is foremost in fashion,
Mention a town always in a passion;
Tell us what river ranks next as a bird,
Tell us what river is named for a third.

No. 274.—A Hidden Proverb.
His parents were a worthy pair,
He honored them as well he should,
He lightly trod upon the stones,
So understand that he was good.
Upon the gate he had his pair,
That noise might not awaken them.
Could other children well do more?
In each line is one word of a common proverb.

No. 275.—The Puzzle of Fourteen.
Cut out of cardboard fourteen pieces of the same shape and relative size as those shown in the design, and then form an oblong with them.

No. 276.—Enigmatical Cities.

A Pointer for the Girls.
A young man worth $1,000,000 advertised for a wife "just for fun." He received several hundred replies, the writers signing
their front names such as, Mattie, Maggie, Mollie, Mamma, Jennie and other specimens of nomenclature ending with "ie."
There was one exception, however. One of his correspondents signed "Sarah,"
and he concluded that she must be a much more sensible than the others that he answered her letter, and "and so they were married."—Norfolk Daily Herald.

Armstrong hall, at the Tasquego, Ala.
Normal school, has recently been completed.
It was built by the Tasquego students, who are engaged, they say, the lumber, making the trunk and doing all the work of erection and finish except putting on the tin roof.
A Paris paper prints in good faith the story of a New York gentleman who, going to a fashionable physician to seek the cure of a severe headache, was told to get a counselor. Some eccentric inhabitants of the city capital indignantly rebuke the merry tale.

WHAT SHALL WE WEAR?

THE MAIN DRIFT OF THE PRESENT
FASHIONS AT HOME AND ABROAD.

Descriptions of the Modified Empire and Directorate Styles Now in Favor—Paris Gowns Designed by Messrs. Pingot and Worth for New York Ladies.

Evening, dinner and reception toilettes are,
for the most part, made in what is commonly termed by modistes the empire and directorate styles. These revivals are, however, in most instances so recognized and modified as hardly to deserve the names. Features of the new gowns are flat fronts, trains less greatly reduced and collars high at the back.

TWO NEW STYLES OF BODICE.
In the first, our given are illustrated two new styles of bodice designed by M. Worth.
One figure introduces the effect of Honiton lace over satin and velvet, and in the second the new Modiste collar of lace and velvet is arranged on the low bodice. The first dresses are also novel. The first consists of ruffles and feathers, and the second of brilliant and plumes. The front of a bodice is susceptible of a great variety, sometimes having a short vest collar, which may be pointed downward to show the throat, or the fronts
may omit any collar just below the throat and the vest to merely cut high, with rounding corners lappling.

A VELVET GOWN DESIGN.
In the second cut is shown a dinner dress,
designed by M. Pingot, in velvet tinted velvet. The shades are of velvet, shading inmost to blue-satin, terminating with Honiton lace. The bodice is of lace and velvet. The bodice is arranged with folds on the right and laced on the left side. Honiton lace is used for the epaulettes.

Popular Fur Trimmings.
Long furs and short furs are both used for trimmings this winter, but in most varied ways, the long furs forming long-trimmed rows and borders on garments, while the shorter furs are used in vests, yokes or plasters, and are shaped in revers, in pointed grapes, as caps for sleeves, or as epaulettes, and as deep cuffs or inner sleeves, and are used as side-trimmings of collars, or of skirts, which in some French garments apply figures of plush or cloth are added to decorate the fur, the narrower band of fur being applied to the selvage of the cloth for drapery.
Brown furs are again in great favor, bringing to light the shades which many ladies have laid stored for years because fashion did not approve of them, and introducing a novelty in the use of an unlined seal fur, which is of light tan color, and is now preferred to the natural plucked beaver that has been so long in vogue. Some martens are also restored to favor, and mink is again a stylish trimming. The fox furs, especially blue fox and silver fox, are favorite light furs, and the yellowish-brown fur with its long down.
For durable furs the black and brown bear-skins are much used as borders for heavy clothes or velvet wraps. Tail trimmings with points like fringe are fashionable,
especially in mink, and there are broad borders of very dark mink from eight to ten inches wide. Wolverine is a very dark fur effective for borders. In the present fancy for applying black to colors, black furs are much used on green, blue and red cloth or plush wraps, and on brown garments as well.
The favorite short black furs are Persian lambskin and Russian lamb, while the long black furs most used are those martens, black bear and beaver furs. Chinchilla is not as popular as formerly. Gray krummer is the fashionable gray trimming fur, while stylish and not only gray trappings are made of the fluffy fur of the Australian opossum.
Specially beaded borders and covers are used for young ladies' cloth jackets and red inglits.—Harper's Bazar.

Fashion Items in a Nutshell.
Some errands that have lately been introduced for wearing with the gowns below, composed of rather thick silk and of any color, interlined with gold wire. They are supposed to match the bodies, they are between two and three inches wide.
Wide ribbon belts for adapting to any bodies are now, and can be had in a variety of color.
Tartan ties for ladies in wool or even silk appear to be coming into favor for wearing with dark gowns.

MONEY IN LITTLE THINGS.

The rubber tip at the end of lead pencils
has yielded $20,000.
Upward of $2,000 a year was made by the inventor of the common useless hammer.

The inventor of the roller skates made over $200,000, notwithstanding the fact that his patent had nearly expired before its value was ascertained.

A large fortune has been reaped by a minor inventor of a small rivet or screw at each end of the mouth of coat and trousers pocket to resist the strain caused by the carriage of pieces of ore and heavy tools.

The gimlet pointed screw has produced more wealth than most silver mine, and the American who first thought of putting copper tips to children's shoes has well off as if his father had left him $100,000 in United States bonds.

As large a sum as was ever obtained for any invention was enjoyed by the inventor of the inverted glass-bell to ban over gas to protect ceilings from being blackened, and a scarcely less lucrative patent was made for simply putting emery powder on cloth.

In a recent local action it transpired in evidence that the inventor of the patent plates used to protect shoes and heels of boots from wear sold upward of 12,000,000 plates in 1879,
and in 1887 the number reached 14,000,000,
producing realized profits of $250,000.—Baltimore Herald.

INFANTILE MARRIAGES.
Vergory Vernon, in 1802—the being nearly 10 years old—was married to Randle More,
who was but 8.

During the reigns of Henry VIII, Edward VI, Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth it was quite customary for persons of all ranks to live to marry their children at astonishingly early ages.

A record tells of how Gilbert Girard and Emma Talbot were married at Leigh church,
when the boy's uncle held up the bridegroom,
who was 5 years old, and spoke the words of matrimony for the child's part, and the woman—who was not 6 years of age—"spoke for herself as she was taught."

William Chaderton—successively Bishop of Chester and Lincoln—a well known scholar and distinguished ecclesiastic of the reign of Elizabeth—did not scruple to marry his daughter Joan, in 1582, at the age of 9, to Richard Brooke, then nearly 11.

—Messrs. W. B. Searth, M. P., trustee, and W. J. Tupper, solicitor, were here on Saturday last to meet the municipal council with a view of effecting a compromise in reference to the taxes on the townsite. See council minutes in another column.

—The Bible Society meeting in the Presbyterian church on Friday evening last was not so well attended as it should have been. Rev. A. Andrews, agent of the Upper Canada Bible Society addressed the meeting on the history of the English Bible and Bible distribution. The address was illustrated by instructive charts, and was full of interest to the Bible student.

—At the Leland: A. S. Binns, W. B. Searth, W. J. Tupper, R. A. Rutan, H. Inman, Winnipeg; W. Sutherland, M. T. L., Arch. McDonald, W. R. C. Passy, G. J. Goldie, Fred A. Johns, Dan McDonald, J. W. H. Olive, Fort Qu'Appelle; C. S. Wetmore, A. French, Toronto; Hugh Cowan, Montreal; A. Nimal, A. C. Beauprie, N. W. M. P.; P. M. Barther, Regina.

—Thos. Tait, who has for the past two years held the position of assistant superintendent from Brandon to Swift Current, has been promoted to a more important position in the service of the C. P. R. company with headquarters at Toronto. The employees on this Division regret Mr. Tait's departure as he has by his fair and honorable dealing with those who were under him made many friends.

—One day a despatch says Major Sherriff is likely to be appointed Sheriff of East Assiniboia, and the next another despatch says the appointment has taken a new phase. It all means that either Major Phipps or Mr. G. B. Murphy, of this town, will get it. Mr. Murphy is pushing the Major hard and we are inclined to the opinion that he will get it, and the Major otherwise provided for. Messrs. Parkes and McHugh are nowhere. The former was too boastful.

MR. DAVIDSON'S PARTY.

The largest gathering that ever met at one time in the immigration building in this town was the result of invitations sent out by the representative of this district in the Legislative Assembly, Mr. G. S. Davidson. After his election in June of last year Mr. Davidson suggested to his committee to have a dinner to celebrate his election, but the committee preferred a more seasonable time, and it was therefore postponed till this winter. There were about four hundred present as near as could be ascertained in the great crush. Dancing was the chief amusement, the music being first class, furnished by four instruments very skilfully handled. There were also games of various kinds, such as cards, dominoes, drafts, etc. The large rooms down stairs were handsomely decorated for the occasion and presented a very attractive appearance. The elegant dresses of many of the ladies present were much commented upon for their excellent taste and refinement. Mr. Davidson is to be congratulated upon the great success of his party.

Redpath—Cates—That this council having heard and considered the offers made by Mr. W. B. Searth on behalf of the trustees of the townsite of Qu'Appelle for the settlement of the claims of the municipality in respect of the taxation of the townsite property, decline Mr. Searth's offer and in lieu thereof and without prejudice as to their legal right, hereby propose that, in consideration of the extremely low assessment heretofore made against the townsite lots varying from a minimum of $5 to a maximum of $25 per lot, and of the small amount contributed by the trustees to the improvement of the town, $1,120, the trustees do give to the municipality the sum of $1,667.53, being one half of the taxes assessed against them for the years 1884, 1885, 1887, and 1888, and to agree to pay the future taxes assessed upon one half of the interest of the trustees of townsite property from time to time remaining vested in them upon the municipality passing a by-law exempting from taxation the remaining half of such interest, and that the townsite trustees do also furnish to this council a list of all lands conveyed or agreed to be conveyed up to the present time, verified by statutory declaration.
